MARLENE AMES

Dear Mom,
Have a really great time in college and remember all the crazy things we use to do when I first came to Dwight!
Be good!
Love,
Mary

Marlene Gms

Dear Marlene -

How going to have a great time next year, I hope not too great! Good luck and maintain your calm, & while your doing that you can think of me suffering in Dwight!

Have fun - Be good

Love,

Notes From The Editor

THE '66 Yearbook has been modernized in order to keep pace with op art and our new auditorium. Accordingly, we have chosen the theme of cartoons, now given the status of art through the imaginative toil of such innovators as Andy Warhol. Thus, the illustrations can be accepted on two levels: as humorous caricatures of the students and events, and as an esoteric expression of the fallibility of human nature. But above all, we hope that the students will look back on the yearbook, if not the the year, and smile.

In Memoriam

NO eulogy can do justice to Miss Jean Nichol; no brief reminiscence can forever sustain her memory. But petty words need not suffice while the islands of Greece still rise above the sea, the seven hills of Rome display their treasures, and the sun casts kaleidoscopic patterns on the stone below the roses of Chartres. Time has even constructed a monument to her humor in the gargoyles and grotesques that she loved in Notre Dame, and in the mysteriously sardonic expression of Verrocchio's David that she always admired.

Art is a perpetual attempt to capture the indescribable essence, to keep forever what can endure but one fleeting second. Perhaps it has finally succeeded, for the entire span of art pays tribute to the spirit that was Miss Nichol and distills that essence which words could never have hoped to preserve.

WILLIAM PEGEUSE

Dedication

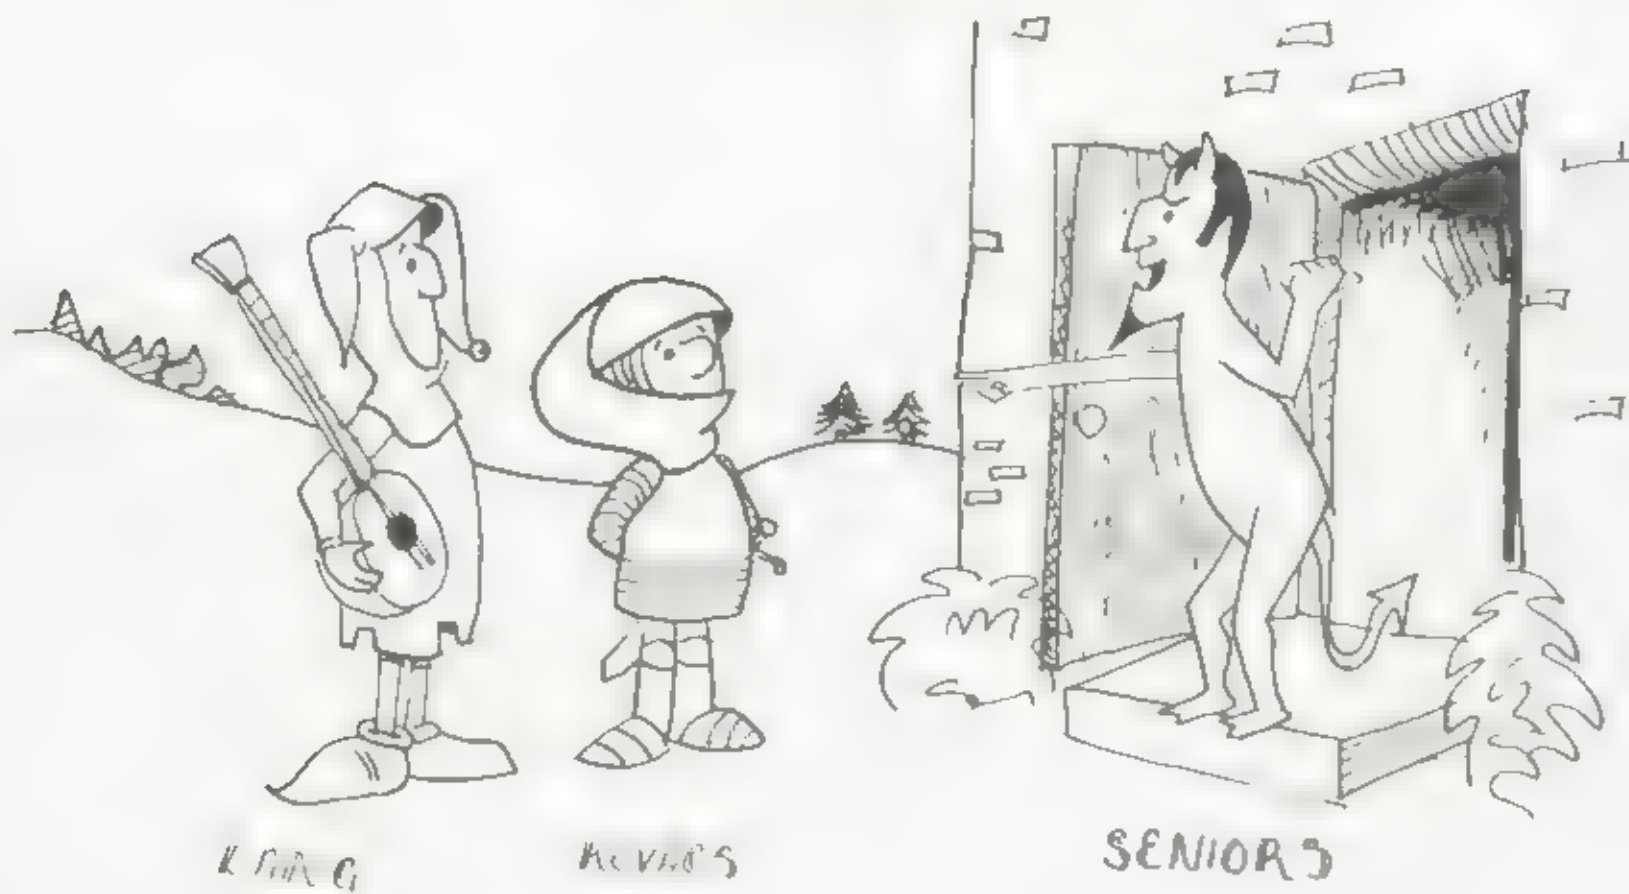

EVERY year the class is placed under the able guidance of one member of the faculty. Thus our class has been aided, threatened, and encouraged by four separate individuals to whom we owe an equal and unquestionable debt of gratitude.

But there has been one guiding light that has not dimmed for four years, one smile that has never faded. No dance, project, or play has been completed without his aid. He is one of the unsung heroes without whom life at Dwight would run a little less smoothly. When the faculty is on edge and the administration is at their wit's end, Bill has preserved his patience and has been for the students, a shelter from the storm, or a rainbow after a shower, and a laugh at the end of a hard day.

Let it not be thought that Bill inspires the insipid sentiments above stated. It is only that our memories of his selflessness can find no expression in frivolity or humor.

THE Class of '67 has had another good year. Although we've had a few traumatic experiences, we've managed to survive and have produced a very interesting year.

September was a month for organizing. Electing officers and starting work on the Christmas Sale were the main topics with which to begin the year. We placed all our confidence in Carol Saxe as chairman of the Sale and were well rewarded. The pocketbook of the Scholarship Fund was filled to the brim and we all enjoyed working together.

The Christmas Pageant was, as usual, beautiful this year. We were especially happy to see Niki Hu as an angel.

This year three senators were elected each semester in order to obtain a wider representation from the classes. Bossy Riewerts and Lesley Rosen, our first semester Senators, were replaced by Niki Hu and Mary McBride. Lucy Lester remained in office the entire year.

At the time of this writing, every Junior is eagerly awaiting her first chance to take SAT's!?! The Junior Skit is in the process of being written and we hope you all will enjoy it.

As we said previously, the Juniors have had a good year. We are sorry to see the Class of '66 leave, but are looking forward to being Seniors ourselves!

Sophomore Class

OFFICERS

Priscilla Wohlforth, Secretary-Treasurer; Reina Safro, President, Alice Kissam, Vice-President

THIS year the Sophomore class was extremely fortunate in having Mr. Burgess for its class adviser. With his assistance the Plant Room and the Sophomore Dance were successful

The first major project was the Plant Room for the Christmas Sale. Everyone participated under the capable leadership of Jill Lang and Terry Robinson. At the same time Peggy Block was busy hanging stars in the halls which added greatly to the festivity of the Christmas season.

Our next project was the Sophomore Dance which was held on Saturday, February 26. The theme chosen was a Discotheque and was carried through in every possible way under the able direction of Sherry Axelrod. Dance music was provided by the "Dimensions" and musical entertainment by the Senior Singing Group.

Because our former dance was so successful, the class decided to sponsor another dance. Sherry Axelrod, after doing such a wonderful job on the dance in February, was unanimously elected as chairman. The dance was held on April 23, and the class was rewarded for its efforts by reports that all had a wonderful time.

Plans for the 1966 Christmas Sale were initiated with the choosing of the chairman and the heads of various committees. Alice Kissam was chosen by the class to head the sale. While the class realizes the great responsibility and labor involved, it is looking forward to presenting one of the best sales in Dwight's history. In short, the class of '68 is hoping for another year as happy and successful as this one has been.

Freshman Class

OFFICERS

Sandra Ganoung, Secretary-Treasurer; Robin Ley, President, Katharine Goodbody, Vice-President.

ANOTHER giant step in the lives of fifty-one girls this year was the entrance into high school as Freshmen. With the new pleasures of being allowed to enter clubs and use the Creighton Library came an added amount of homework and responsibilities, a bit unpleasant, but these duties made us feel a truer part of Dwight. But with the always-available advice of Miss Lay, we managed to struggle through successfully.

In the fall we tackled our first big project of the year, the Freshman Gameroom at the Christmas Sale. Electing Julie Fuller and Andrea Boissy as heads, the class helped to make it a great attraction. One new addition this year was the Discotheque Room which was a "big smash hit."

Having big sisters was a lot of fun and also made new friends for us in other classes. In October they gave us a party where we went on a Scavenger Hunt for the Christmas Sale. We reciprocated in the spring with another party which everyone enjoyed.

Although many of us had seen the Christmas Pageant in previous years, we especially looked forward to it since many of us were to participate. Jenny Kay was chosen to be an angel.

The next major enterprise on our list was the most important of the year: our Freshman Project. The decision to sell red and white striped night-shirts under the direction of Emily Bonacarti and Libby Johnson was a big success. Next year we hope to put the profits into the Sophomore Dance.

Although there were times when the year was rather dark, our Freshman experience was one of fun, but the kind of fun from which we all profited.

SENATE is composed of the three Student Government officers, the three elected Senators from each of the Senior School classes, and Mrs. Hanson, the faculty advisor.

As the legislative branch of the Student Government, Senate meets once a week to discuss various problems, and promote many ideas. This year the class presidents attended the meetings for the first time, an innovation in the area of clear communication between individual classes.

Senate has kept busy over the year by sponsoring the Orientation and Initiation Day for incoming students in the fall, the Name Contest, the "Madeline Skit," the Student Government Test, and the Student-Teacher Exchange Day. Also, more communication between the Intermediate Council and the Junior School was initiated.

OFFICERS

Amelia Wood, Vice-President, Elizabeth McBride, President.

THE Cabinet is composed of the Student Government, the class presidents, the heads of all Student Organizations, the headmistress and the faculty advisors of the classes and organizations.

This year the Cabinet members have met regularly the first Monday of every month, an arrangement which provided for an excellent exchange of ideas between both students and faculty.

The Cabinet can be a source of promoting school spirit, instigating new ideas, clearing up misunderstandings, and keeping a definite communication channel open.

Dwight Service Organization

THE major purposes of D.S.O., Dwight Service Organization, are to keep its members and the entire student body aware of the needs of others, and to stimulate general interest in various programs of volunteer work and charity year to the New York Missions Society for underprivileged children. Moreover, many enthusiastically expressed their interest in D.S.O. as well as world affairs by filling Red Cross boxes for Vietnamese children. This program proved to be an exciting and challenging experience for the many girls who participated. Throughout the year, we continued the support of and correspondance with a foster child, Lourds Gonzaga, of the Philippines.

In the spring, the three main D.S.O. projects consisting of the general fund raising project, the Northfield speakers, and the Children's Theater were very successfully carried out. D.S.O. ended the 1965-66 season, satisfied that its basic goals had been achieved, and eagerly looking forward to an even more successful year.

Each year volunteer programs at the Englewood Hospital and Memorial House are offered for those who wish to participate. At the hospital one may fill a number of positions from waitress in the Hospitality Shop to nurse's aide on the floors. In Memorial House one may offer her services and be a private tutor, a librarian, or even a group teacher. This year, some of those who wished, were permitted to help teachers at the Leonard Johnson Day Nursery School care for pre-school children. Those who were unable to do volunteer work on a regular weekly basis were able to show their concern in the activities of D.S.O. by participating in Englewood's annual Heart Fund drive, or by filling one of the Christmas stockings which are sent each

American Field Service

WHEN I heard I was coming to your country, I was filled with excitement and curiosity about American life. At my school in Munich, the Hollywood interpretation of America is well known to the students, who think all Americans are alike. I came with the intention of forgetting all my previous knowledge of the U.S.A. and of discovering it for myself.

At first I only looked and listened until I started to feel a part of the new surroundings. I was eager to learn first-hand of many different aspects of your life—of your customs, ideals, interests, and problems. Through the purpose of AFS, so well expressed in the phrase, "An open door to understanding and friendship," my wishes were granted. Passing through this door has been for me a most significant experience in my life.

AFS is a two-way program of giving and receiving. The friendly relations among AFS students—Brazilian, Turkish, African or German — gave me the feeling of belonging to a large international family. Every member of this family gained for his lifetime a sense of good understanding and cooperation. It has been a pleasure to know and meet you all and to find out that nationality makes only a few differences among us.

Looking backward on my year in the U.S.A., I see myself as a traveller on a road—a road with many intersections. As I return to Germany, this road will become a memory filled with gratitude for Dwight and the opportunities it offered me.

Yearbook

Within our ranks confusion and collusion reigned
 Month, week, and day
 And many losses, losers late ones we sustained
 Were yet to pay

And ever on to higher hopes and highest heights,
 With toil abounding,
 We drugged, and drugged, and dragged ourselves
 through days and nights
 With force astounding

The ads so calmly collectively collected
 And patron's aid,
 With little lingering larceny suspected
 Our bills were paid

Now every fragment finally finished finely,
 With sweat and tears,
 Contrasted, compromised, and composed divinely,
 Our work appears

VOLUME I of the Forum tried to accomplish more than the usual news coverage; it attempted to stimulate thought and controversy within Dwight's Student Body with the presentation of interesting feature articles and critical analyses of school situations.

In line with the Forum's policy, standard activities such as daily chapels or weekly assemblies were not covered, and most of the space was given to features. Editorials attacked student "apathitis," praised "Senioritis," and urged the continuance of citizenship blanks.

Margaret Sloane's comments on school life amused readers without causing the Editor's suspension. With the aid of Ambrose, she managed to turn in an article for every issue, and received a standard place in the paper for her articles.

The 1965-66 Forum has established a policy which hopefully will be continued in the future. As its primary objective, the staff wanted to make Dwight's students read, question, and challenge. It is hoped that this goal was achieved.

Calliope

CALLIOPE, often called the creative arts magazine of Dwight, is unique in that it is published less often than the Forum and more often than the Yearbook. All prospective literary work for Calliope must pass through a board of editors, who are sometimes envisioned ploughing through huge piles of short stories and poems in the hours of the night in the hallowed halls of Dwight, filled with "young intellectuals," discussing the works of esoteric writers, including their own. This impression is false; the piles are small.

That the magazine and the student body are generally alienated is a problem which the editors tried to rectify. The image of Calliope as a publication of incomprehensible works addressed to a small elite was discarded. The editors tried to combine "representative" work of the students, thus appealing to a larger majority, yet tried to maintain a high quality of material, thus satisfying editorial standards.

With the founding of the Forum this year, the problem of the type of material to be printed was solved. The Calliope has become a "literary" magazine, featuring short stories, poetry, and art letters to the editor, reviews, and news articles were left for the Forum.

Calliope made several changes this year, mainly with regard to the type of material printed. Trying to escape from the abundance of poetry on such light subjects as weather and flowers, the Calliope staff printed more pieces on adolescent psychology and carnal devastation. In addition, individual drawings besides illustrations were encouraged. The old tradition of translations from French was continued. Innovations on staff requirements were also made. Members were expected to contribute to the magazine at least once a month, and to participate in literary discussions held during the meetings.

Calliope has been a stimulating experience to its editors, whose hope is that it was equally enjoyable to its readers. Special thanks are due Miss Arwood, Calliope's Advisor, who lent her critical judgment to the magazine. The Staff hopes that Calliope will continually improve in all areas, that eventually every student will write for the magazine, and above all that Calliope will instill a lasting interest in creative writing in the students.

THE opening of the new auditorium with its fine facilities gave the Dramatics Club a new and more stimulating program this year.

Prior to the opening of the new building the Dramatics Club presented Ladies in Retirement under the direction of Mrs. Thomas J. Robinson. The play was a success financially and provided an enriching experience for all those involved. Another invaluable experience for all girls was the annual Christmas Pageant. Club members participated whole-heartedly in costuming, make-up and staging.

Instead of one workshop in the spring, this year Dramatics Club gave two, a one-act play entitled The Idols and a scene from Mary, Queen of Scots.

Dramatics Club

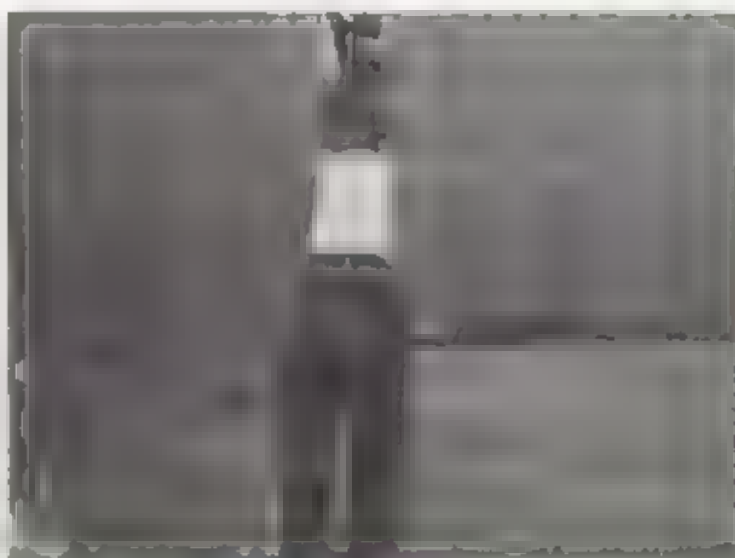

First row—Vivian Frankfort, Sherry Axelrod, Halli Wasserburger, Lynn Lieblich, Lucy Pack, Elizabeth Hein, Diane Kantoff, Jr. Workshop—Ann Eisenberg, Jane Drewes, Carol Ishac, Susan Peterson, Lynn Schaefer. Second row—Anne Drewes, Nell Thistle, Margaret Sloane, Marion Young, Evan Lattimer, Lesley Russell, Jill Lang, Eleanor Goodman, Lucy Fisher, Helen Pack, Patricia Donne, Deborah Kohn. Third row—Deborah Kohn, Nick Hill, Susan Law, Karen Miller, Janine Brockie, Judith Rabinowitz, Susan Thistle, Wendy Leere, Jane Krudener, Joanne Terenzio, Jane Foulkes, Julia Fuller.

Both workshops were stimulating and rewarding. The girls from Dwight also attended workshops, under the direction of the Englewood School for Boys, in which they learned to use the new auditorium to its fullest advantages

Children's Theatre, under the direction of Susan Peterson, presented The Flying Prince. This year two performances were given in the spring, rather than a different play presented twice yearly. The Flying Prince, with its wonderful sets, was a delight to all

The Dramatics Club has become more involved with the school itself. We gave more workshop assemblies and chapels and stimulated a greater interest within both the school and club, an interest which is sure to continue CHORAL Club spent another rewarding year under the direction of Mr. Erwin and the accompaniment of Mr. Utley. We began our year by participating with other schools in Englewood in a concert honoring the United Nations.

Along with the Dramatics Club we participated in the annual Christmas Pageant, which proved to be just as beautiful as in previous years. Our concerts were with the Choate School and the Yale Freshman Glee clubs. They were followed by dances which added to the enjoyment of the evenings.

Choral Club sang a few popular songs at the Father-Daughter Dinner, thus finishing another successful year

Melanie Bogert, President

Choir

CHOIR has now completed its twenty-third year. Twenty girls from the Choral Club with superior voices and sincere interest in music were selected. Rehearsing once weekly under the direction of Mr. Erwin and Mr. Utley, Choir sang at all Choral Club concerts, including the Christmas

Pageant, and performed at Christmastime for the Woman's Club of Wyckoff. In June, Choir sings at the Senior Graduation. Among the works mastered this year, Choir sang the "Kaiser Walter," difficult Strauss waltzes, with a soprano solo by Wendy Schnee

Bell Choir

Jane Katz, President

NINETEEN bell ringers, a conductor, a set of thirty hand-four English handbells, and music were the ingredients of this year's Bell Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Erwin, the members maintained the high quality of their predecessors' performances.

Performing for twelve groups, the Bell Choir spanned the state from Newark to Montvale. The concerts included performances for woman's clubs in Wyckoff, Fairmount, Montvale, Tenafly, Englewood, and for the Welcome Wagon of Waldwick, for the University Women of Englewood and Cresskill, and for the traditional Christmas Pageant at Dwight. The two innovations and highlights of the year were performances of the ambitious work "I am the Lord" at the Yale and Choate concerts, and a Christmas program on Channel 47 in Newark.

First row—Judith Carrier, Peggy Bloch, Deborah Taussig, Carla Innerfield, Sally Scholl. Second row—Cynthia Becton, Jane Katz, Marian Young, Margaret Sloane, Claudia Cohen, Alice Kissam, Sandra Ganoung. Third row—Alice Taussig, Abby Pirnie, Amelia Wood, Wendy Schnee, Deborah Pines, Melanie Bogert, Lucy Lester.

Senior Singing Group

THIS year Senior Singing Group was composed of eighteen enthusiastic girls, who wished to sing for pleasure rather than perfection. The meetings were held once a week, and they became social gatherings as well as rehearsals.

In December Senior Singing Group sang Christmas carols in chapel and gave to the Dwight Student Body a feeling of the Yuletide spirit. In the Spring we sang at the Sophomore Dance and brought cheer and happiness into the hearts of Dwight dancers.

This year, although Senior Singing Group did not attain its ultimate goal, we feel that it has improved considerably. We all hope that it will become a more significant factor in the history of Dwight.

Social Service

SOcial Service Club is for girls who want to help those who are less fortunate than themselves. This year our first project was to give a Halloween Party for some of the young children at Memorial House. We then washed, wigged, and clothed dolls in time for Christmas for the children at Memorial House. For our spring project we decided to associate closely with D.S.O. in their project. As our aim to help others is the same, we felt that by uniting our efforts we could achieve greater success. We also held many delicious bake sales throughout the year to raise money for our activities. All in all, we feel this year was a successful one, particularly with the help and advice of Miss Lay, our adviser.

POLITICAL DISCUSSION CLUB

OFFICERS

Lesley Rosen, Secretary, Nancy Lieblich, President, Lucy Fisher, Vice-President

THIS year many of Political Discussion Club's activities were centered around the American Field Service. The weekend of October 23-25 saw seven Dwight girls and seven Dwight Morrow students hosting American Field Service students of Bergen County. On Friday night there was a party. On Saturday evening Lesley Gore gave a benefit performance, and on Sunday afternoon the Dwight hostesses sponsored a barbecue. During an assembly on January 8, A.F.S.ers participated in a panel discussion. In late June Dwight girls will again host A.F.S.ers from all over the country in Operation Bus Stop.

During our weekly meetings we explored in depth through research and debate problems facing New Jersey, the U.N., Red China and many of the world's trouble spots, including, of course, Viet Nam. In conjunction with this, Senator Wayne Dumont Jr. spoke to a combined audience of Dwight and Englewood Boys' School. To round off the year P.D. Club members participated in a mock House of Representatives at Temple University and saw two interesting movies, "To Die in Madrid" and "The Eleanor Roosevelt Story."

First row—Ellen Cate, Jean Miller, Barbara Steinberg, Vivian Frankenthal, Ellen Kassin, Ned Rosen, Peggy Isach, Cass Miller, Gayle First, Amy Jacobson, Ellen Littman, Hope Shwartz, Second row—Joan Putkoski, Elizabeth Scott, Virginia Kay, Nan Thistle, Karen MacCracken, Cynthia Foote, Lucy Fisher, Francesca Freedman, Nancy Williams, Lisa Miller, Martha Steinberg, Eileen Press, Marlene Boemi, Elisabeth Lane. Third row—Lesley Rosen, Linda Carlton, Jill Lang, Margaret Ravits, Priscilla Wohlforth, Reina Saffro, Kristin Knipfer, Deborah Pines, Barbara Effron, Nancy Duvallon, Joanne Terenzio

THE Ethical Discussion Club, originated during the later half of the school year 1964-65, swelled to astounding proportions in September of 1965

Its goals have been described by "The Humanist," "[The organization] is an attempt to bring together [individuals] who are looking for answers to life's problems. How do we develop personal and social ethics appropriate to these revolutionary times? How can the world be changed to meet the needs of people who are learning to define their aspirations? How do we stimulate creativity? How do we define man and the balance between freedom and commitment? What is our response to a changing society?"

In addition the club has succeeded in bringing together students of varying social and religious backgrounds. The diverse opinions stated force members to search beyond the accepted answer for a universal truth, and where one cannot be divined, it teaches the student to accept uncertainty

BEGINNING in the fall of the year each club member was assigned the same media in order to learn and develop painting technique expressed through personal creativity. These paintings were completed, and each member was given the opportunity to procure her own individual project

In March the club made a trip to the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. During the month of April the club exhibited completed projects in the Spring Art Show at Dwight.

Each member of the club expressed herself by means of applied techniques and those of original style

Third row—Heddy Schiff, Mary Roe, Caren Weinstein, Carolyn Cellary, Robin Vann, Onolee Coffey

CRAFTS Club has had a very enjoyable year under the excellent guidance of Mrs. Fuller. We explored new forms of crafts, mainly paper-mache, with which the girls made bracelets, containers, and angels

There is no talent needed to be in Crafts club, only a willingness to create and to end the day in a relaxing way

This year the club bought a tumbler, and the girls made bracelets, necklaces and pins from tumbled stone. Besides the tumbled stone jewelry we made glass decorations, enameled jewelry, and a stained glass window for the new science building

Third row—Margaret Ravits, Shauna Carboni, Elizabeth Phillips, Onolee Coffey, Alice Chase, Andrea Boissy, Robin Vann, Jane Seitel, Niki Hu, Francesca Freedman.

THIS year, Dance Club has branched into various directions, thus providing a variety of opportunities for girls with various interests. The new technical staff consists of many enthusiastic girls who, though at first unexperienced, have learned many skills. They have worked hard to broaden our income and have worked equally hard spending our money on worthy investments such as a trip to see the movie An Evening With the Royal Ballet, and buying equipment for the club's future use.

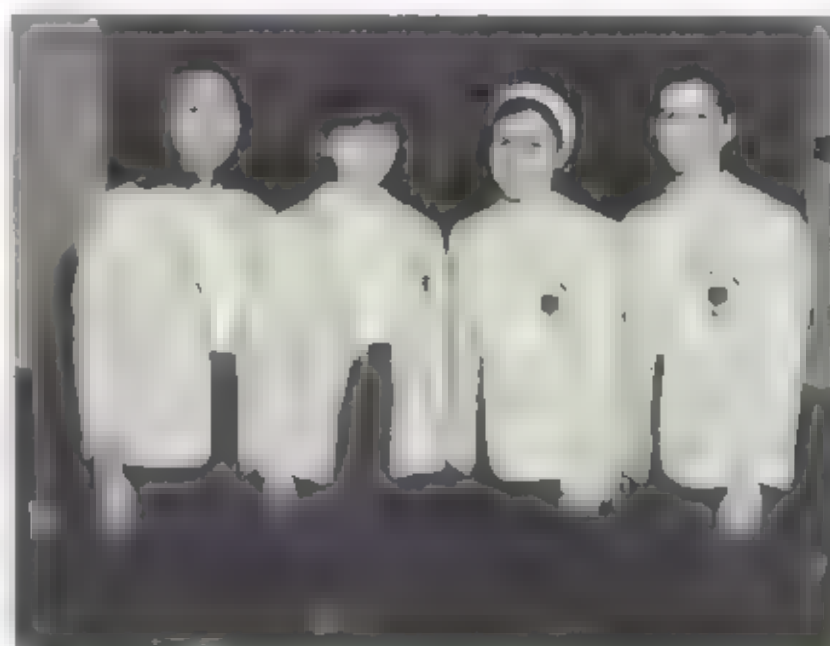

The dancers in our club worked diligently planning our annual spring production which also was along new lines; this year our production was an interpretation of "Trojan Women." The Staff and the dancers worked together to make this production a success.

Besides our major production in Modern Dance, the dancers have been giving a degree of their attention to other fields of dance. Two of our members gave a chapel on Ballet in February. Appropriately, they did a duet from "Sleeping Beauty" called "The Winter Dance."

THE French Club began its second year charge despite. In order to raise money for our ever-expanding French library, we undertook a year-long project selling French assignment pads and note paper. Our journal, "Les Potins," (gossip) was published four times during the year. Under the guidance and hard work of our advisor, Mme Kovacs, every girl took part in the publication of the magazine. In November we celebrated a national holiday, Armistice Day, that is observed by both France and the United States. A reception was given for the faculty by the French Club to commemorate the occasion.

Later in the year the Club was fortunate to be able to attend a performance of "L'Avare," by Moliere, given by the Comedie Francaise in New York. In the spring we gave a performance of "Le Petit Prince" for an assembly period.

Science Club

OFFICERS

Peggy Bloch, Vice President Ellen Effron, President

DURING Science Club's second year, many goals were realized which made this year rewarding and successful. The members of Science Club form a group well-versed in all fields of science. With such an extraordinary background, they are able to perform complicated experiments such as how an egg can go through the neck of a milk bottle. They also lecture to other members.

Although it is not mandatory that members have projects, several girls have been working on projects concerning computers, the weather, and the structure of cells. During one club meeting, we enjoyed seeing a movie about computers entitled "Thinking Machines," and some members went on a field trip with the chemistry classes to the laboratory of Bristol-Meyers.

Our main goal in the following years will be to obtain equipment as the needs of the club become greater. Science Club sincerely hopes that this goal will be achieved with the completion of the Science Building.

THE SUPER SENIORS

What Does A Yearbook Mean?

For you, a yearbook means memories. Throughout your life it will help you recall old friends and relive the good times of your student days.

And for your publishers, too, a yearbook means something special. As former members of yearbook staffs, we bring to our professional editors a deep personal interest in the goals of a yearbook editor, as well as a real understanding of his many problems.

To this we add more than a quarter-century of experience publishing many scores of school and college yearbooks. But what we offer you is more than balanced by what you give to us—the happiness of sharing in student projects, the delight of finding each year new and younger friends.

YEARBOOKS • FRESHMAN GUIDES • SPORTS PUBLICATIONS
LIMITED EDITIONS • ALUMNI LITERARY AND PROFESSIONAL MAGAZINES
